This is even more interesting when judged against Tony's comment to me just before I went on leave about tie being in confusion and disarray. At which point I suggested he and I get together on my return to explore further. Either he's getting to grips with his role or he's becoming disillusioned? Maybe a lever we can use here though

David,

I have received a letter from you today (interestingly dated "30th March 2006"!) which asks for speedy resolution of many o/s RFIs from SDS.

It is patently unacceptable that these have been held up by tie or its agents for so long. To that end I shall address this next week urgently when I return from Easter holiday on Wednesday next week.

It is possible that we could – or should – use some time at the critical issues clearing house meeting on Thursday 12th April to clear as many of these as possible.

This is sent by email to speed up my response. Our team organiser is away and letters are produced by him!

Tony Glazebrook
