Consultation was useful though as you can imagine where there are arguable areas, Counsel's view does not remove them but brings a fresh perspective.

A number of key views held by ourselves and by tie were reinforced.

Report will follow but main message is: no surprises, added strength for both negotiation and for DRP if required.

kind regards

Morning Andrew

Apologies that I will not be able to join you at 10 as I now have some other pressing matters here. I will mail later this morning and join your consultation at a later stage if this is okay with you.

Gill

Senior Counsel has been instructed with a view to a consultation on June 1st. It would be desirable to have you at the consultation if you are available.

We will distribute the instruction this afternoon and follow this up with the set of papers which he has been sent. Callum HS MacNeill is the counsel selected on the basis of his construction law specialty. We have worked up the questions directed to Counsel in order to test the arguments on contractual interpretation, as well as factual merits.

On flight and will call later today.

Kind regards
