Vic, I am happy with Cyril Sweett, they know the job, are already appointed, and have already done some of the work in preparation for mediation. Equally, I am sure others could do a decent job, do you have someone else in mind?

Happy to discuss

Regards

Richard

Richard, Steven

Are we sure that Cyril Sweett is the right people for this?

Have you agreed a scope yet?

Vic

Richard,

Will do. I am seeing Colin at 0830 tomorrow morning and will ensure he understands the direction of travel.

I note Tony's preferred work allocation and we can address this in due course.

As a fall back position to our objective of seeking a solution to continue working with Infraco, we need to do a thorough, objective and independent assessment of the costs of termination and re-procurement.

Do you have anyone in mind who could carry out this work?

Thanks

Vic

Vic,

Good to work with you again.

I will come back to you later in the week on ideas on organisation. In the meantime can I suggest that you give thought to:

- Steven should concentrate on the On-street design and Princes Street remedials;
- Dennis should report to Colin for future payments and commercial issues;
- ** Consider appointing a consultant to do a thorough and objective assessment of the costs of termination and re-procurement. In the past I would have used the Property people at Ernst Young in London but the director there has retired. I think Deloitte in London have a similar resource.; and
- Torquil does a daily track on correspondence. I suggest that he continues this until the end of the month.

Ring me if there is anything you need.

Tony
